This Spring we have a very successful Black bear hunting. We did not have any Grizzly hunters. In the fall the Black bear hunts were success. The Moose hunts were more difficult and our success rate dropped. It did not help that shots were missed at 60 yards and two Bulls standing in the middle of the road. But that is hunting. Those hunters, I am sure are still kicking their butts. The two Mountain Goat hunters were not successful.

The picture above is part of the area that we hunt during the ATV Moose hunting trip. Large meadows, many streams and small lakes throughout the area. Prime Moose habitat. Anyone interested in this once a year hunting adventure? I am open for 2008 for one or two hunters who want to experience a remote hunting adventure without the cost of the aircraft.

Sun raise over Francois Lake, BC.

This year I did not do any up grading or repairs due to the worst year I have ever experience with insects. We could not even spent time on our sun deck this summer. Too many bugs. Thank goodness the fall frost took care of them and the hunting was ok. This next year, I am going to have to do something with the Nanika Lake Lodge and wharf. There needs to be repairs. I hope to have a better spring season so I have the funds to do the work.

We had two Mountain Goat hunters from Ontario this last fall. Neither of the hunters took a Goat. This was mostly due to weather and twisted ankle and knee. One of the Goats that the hunters went after would have been in the trophy class, if not Boone and Crockett. I hope someone will book a Goat hunt or two in 2008, so that we can boast a hundred percent success for 2008.

Talk about being a magnet. Mike Draper really attracted the cow Moose. All week he saw 26 cow Moose and no Bulls. Hopefully he will return to try for a big Bull in the near future. All our back country Moose hunts produced Moose and in fact the Kidprice Lake area, I saw more Moose there this fall then I ever had. I hope 2008 will be the same. This year one of the hunters sat in one of the cabin chairs on the beach in front of the cabin and a Bull was spotted across the lake. We went across and took the Bull. Moose hunting is not much easier than that. This year Loren guided his hunters to more successful Bull than either Chad or his Father. Watch out next year Loren.

Marco Benecchi from Italy with his nice Black Bear. Marco is a writer for a hunting magazine.

Marco Fabbri from Italy with is medium sized Black Bear. A TV film crew was along to do a one hour show on Black bear hunting, to be aired in February or March 2008, on the Italian outdoor TV channel. I will be speaking Italian with the voice over technique. I will be receiving a DVD of the show, looking forwards to viewing it.

Every year we are seeing more Grizzly Bears, but no one is booking a Grizzly hunt. Each year that Mike Whited comes up hunting, we see grizzly. This year he saw two Grizzly and both would have been easy to take. Mike even said if anyone is interested in hunting Grizzly, that he would come along and be the grizzly magnet. I do not think that would be considered baiting the bear. I am open in 2008 for a Grizzly hunt. Anyone interested? Grizzly hunt is the most challenging as the Grizzly is one of the smartest animals to hunt.
